The authors suggested that the higher prevalence in the United States may be due to the higher consumption of undercooked meat in the United States compared to the United Kingdom.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.2 million (Office for National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to older people and the actions that will be taken to improve their lives. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently and actively in the community.
- Older people should be able to access the services and facilities they need to live well.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including:

- To improve the health and well-being of older people.
- To improve the social and economic participation of older people.
- To improve the living conditions of older people.
- To improve the protection of older people.

The strategy is a key document in the development of policy for older people in the UK. It provides a framework for the development of legislation, policy, and practice. It also provides a basis for the monitoring and evaluation of the impact of government action on older people.

We belong to a new age, an age of discovery and transition. We are drawn to non-conformity as we search for a way to make our lives different from the young lives of these in generations before us.

The newness of the times in which we are living gives us a spirit of discovery. We yearn to be representations of the new and the better things that are now within our reach. We are the fourth generation of this century: we are

Spring began a series of changes in the lives of all the students at Whiting High School. Each individual, from freshmen to seniors, was stepping up yet one more rung on the ladder towards the goal of graduation. Things happened on the way up that ladder that marked changes in the lives of everyone involved. As you look through the next few pages of this book, you're going to see it all again through

INSTANT REPLAY

Spring Brings Change;

When "Spring Fever" strikes, no one is left untouched by its effects, as proven here by Bette Etter, Janice Hruskocy and Barb Kubeck.

One of the major highlights of spring is the Junior-Senior Prom, sponsored by the junior class. After a memorable evening at the Ramada Inn, couples Joe Stefanich and Karen Tobias, Marie Zorich and Terry Demeter spend a few moments posing for the photographer.

At WH's spring weekend's in connection with the annual Homebound Academic Triathlons. Amid the excitement are the team boosters pulling for victory.

Things Come Alive!

The annual Mother's Day Tea was another special event in the spring that was attended by J. Hruskocy, N. Mohr, and Mrs. D. Mohr.

Spring came to Whiting in 1973 with many changes seen on both the national and local levels. The newly-uncovered "Watergate Scandal" had begun to influence the political viewpoints of many Americans. In addition to this surprising event, the launching of the space-craft SKYLAB 1 had begun what was later to become a series of manned space probes, all in order to find answers.

Here at Whiting High school students were busy preparing themselves for final exams, the Prom, and summer. Members of the class of '74 were excited at the prospect of being able to fill the special vacancy left by the recent graduates of WHS by changing its eighty-eight members from juniors to seniors at the turn of a class ring and bringing them closer to June

After the evening at the Ramada Inn, prom couples Stase Warzymak and Jean Davenport, Lynn Vajda and Dave Gajewski relax.

"Precious and Few" Are the Moments . . .

May 23, 1973: a beautiful, warm, moonlit spring evening. As the time reached 7:00 P.M., many of the girls from Whiting High were putting the finishing touches on their appearances; gowns flowed around them, flowers adorned their wrists, and formal hairstyles were patted one last time before their dates, attired in tuxedos, arrived. Then off they went to the ballroom where dream after dream was to come true. A sweet memory of the spring of 1973, "Precious and Few" was a night not soon to be forgotten. After the event, post-prom topped everything off with more music and fun, and memories.

During the post-prom, Joe Stefanich, Karen Tobias, Marie Zurich and Terry Demeter pose beneath a spring setting of a lattice gazebo decorated with pink and red roses.

English and French students demonstrate the power of language by having a heated match over a subject's final.

Entering the gym for post-prom is JoAnn Taylor and her date for the evening.

Music during the post-prom portion of the evening was provided by the local band Q1-ORUM, featuring student David Borgetti and alumnus John Kontik.

Couple Tanya Hrnvo and Peter Pavlina pass the time at the post-prom by chatting about the past evening and all the memories they will carry away with them.

Marianne Gambini and her date Bill Skaggs dance to dreamy music.

Halloween during your year of history, enjoyed by Mrs. Wetland, M.B. Kuzka, D. Crowell and T. Smith on a trip to Argolis, Indiana by the members of the WHS band.

Summer brought a lakefront celebration to Whiting as grand as the summer itself. On July fourth, students Annmarie Ruszhasan and Kathy Marko visited the carnival to take part in the festivities, and found that a ride on the merry-go-round brings back memories of younger days.

Nothing could be more peaceful than a solitary walk along the warm lakeshore.

When it starts to get hot outside, it's time to start melting inside. The sweltering summer temperatures proved to be too much for Sally Allen, who decides to relax a bit.

The Lakefront Swelters; Summer Sizzles 1973.

At the close of school in June, summer brought more changes around both our community and the entire nation. The national economy began fluctuating as prices jumped higher than ever. SKYLAB II was launched in order to continue the efforts of her pioneer sister. Here in town, Whiting was "On The Move" with a growing and progressing business district. A gala fourth of July celebration swept through town, bringing outdoor activities to a peak. Styles changed, and 119th

Street became a small melting pot of ever-changing teenage fashions. Townspeople were turning their attention towards the baseball season, with Chicago one of the teams in close contention for a shot at the World Series. Summer school was in session, and sophomores took to the streets in Driver Education cars. Many students were busy with jobs, others occupied themselves at beaches and local hangouts, watching summer change to fall.

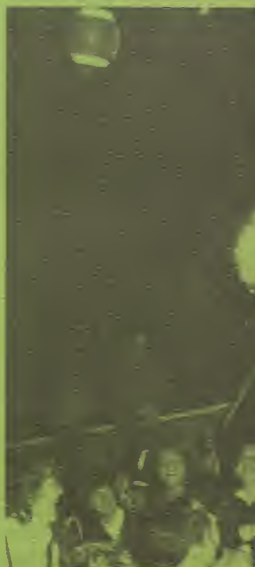

Every other summer, members of the Spanish Club at Whiting High School are given the opportunity to go on a trip to Mexico. During the 1973 trip, B. Solomon and N. Mohr befriend a pirate.

Books, Lockers, Football:

After a vigorous pep session at the football stadium, students gather at a massive bonfire outside the gates.

Trying to be as "inconspicuous" as possible, Phil Slask decides to leave class in a very unconventional and rather strange manner.

It's September Again

Sooner than most of the students had expected, fall had reached Oliver Street, and the newness of the season made the students eagerly exchange bathing suits for jackets, radios for books, and carefree days for 8:20 to 3:15 workdays. Even though the warm weather had started to fade, the fiery spirit befitting the Oilers ignited their pride in Whiting High School, and once that happened, a chain reaction of memorable events took place. Then things really happened!

With the beginning of the 1973-74 school year, football headed the list of sports attractions for the Oilers. The fans were entertained by the pom-pom squad at each game.

Caught in the act! Hurriedly trying to return to the building that they were seen leaving just a bit too early are mischievous students Molly Geary, Lydia Gajewski and Carl Kobli.

During an Oiler football game, Oilersettes Jeannie Odilvak and Rosann Sabol find Mary Beth Michalak's "passing" of an out-of-bounds football amusing.

Throne-sitting: OHS's own Queen Berdik chosen as Mr. Football and proudly Walters as the reigning Quince.

"Oiler Fever"

The support of the entire student body during the 1973-74 football season was overwhelming. Even though the Oilers were defeated in their homecoming football battle, the fans never once showed any lack of the hot spirit that carried them within two points of victory.

After the depressing defeat on the field, the students flocked to the gym to kick off their shoes and dance the night away.

Reaches Epidemic Stages

During the week prior to October the 12th, 531 cases of "Oiler Fever" were reported at Whiting High School. This contagious condition spread like wildfire from student to student bringing symptoms of excitement and anticipation to them all. On the eve of the homecoming festivities a parade passed through the main street of town, exhibiting the many floats and banners that the students had spent days in preparing. The nominees for the title of Homecoming Queen were brimming with excitement as the memorable night approached. On the night of Homecoming, after a spirited day at school, all of the work that was put into the flower-making parties and sign painting sessions reached fever pitch, as the best-decorated cars and floats were announced. To add to the climax of a very hectic week, Queen Beverly Wallace was crowned. Even though the Mighty Big Green Machine fell to its first defeat, it was a night to remember.

Coach Nick Crnkovich says a few words to the student body at the morning pep session in order to boost the spirits of the team and the fans.

Winter Brings "Energy Crisis" and More Changes

Before going outside to face the cold nippy frost of the winter air, Marilu Gregor stops for a rest.

Guess who's decorating this Christmas-time door in the halls?

Cold weather sometimes does crazy things to people, as proven by Debbi Goodall. Is there not a better way to escape the cold?

Well into the new school year, students began to feel the frostiness of yet another Northern Indiana winter. Throughout the nation, a severe "Energy Crisis" had begun to change the lives of millions of Americans. Fuel prices went up, and temperatures came down. At WHS, heavy coats and boots now replaced the typical football game attire of October and November, and basketball and wrestling soon headed the list of athletic attractions for the Oilers. Classes became more involved with each passing day. Clubs all around the school were busy planning the activities of it's members. Now only midway between the beginning and the end of the school year, the students knew they were only one step away from changing tomorrow.

Busy putting the final touches on her name heart is senior sweetheart nominee Debbi Goodall.

February brought much more than cold weather to Whiting High. To a very lucky senior girl, it held the title of 1974 Sectional Sweetheart. On February 16, a dance was held in order to announce the Queen and her court for 1974. Each girl anxiously awaited the announcement of her name to the court. Only one of the three nominees from each class was selected for the court. The dance was sponsored by the booster club featuring the local band CIRCUS. The color scheme was red, pink, and white, typical of Valentine's day.

Nanci Is Sweetheart

Anxiously awaiting the announcement of the 1974 Sweetheart Queen and her court is senior nominee Nanci Mohr.

Chatting amiably among themselves before the exciting announcement of the Queen and her court are junior nominees Mary Choltye and Cassie Biedron, with their escorts, Joe Skvarek and Barry Haskins.

As the winners are announced, a crowd gathers around the Queen and her court to watch the coronation ceremony.

New Computer

A new computer was obtained this past year for use in an after-school course dealing with computers, taught by Mr. Allen. Students that participated in this course were taught how the computer works and its' various uses. Senior Practical Math also worked with the computer.

Mr. Laub, who has previously taught at Whiting, returned, teaching basic and general math.

Jim O'Drobinak, Algebra student, tried his luck at completing the theorem prepared for him by Mr. Sorota.

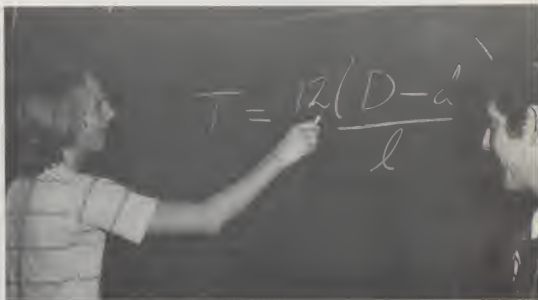

After completing a proof, Dwayne Spencer explains to the rest of the geometry class, the steps he took in proving it.

Aids Classes

To pass a test, Rich Zajac must be able to prove why two angles are congruent.

Al Lewandowski proves to Mr. Poropat, shop math teacher, that he can figure the diameter to the length on his own.

Science: A New

Seeking a more complete knowledge of the human body, biology students V. Wilkins and D. Jones carefully examine a skull.

The wonders of science were discovered, unfolded, and explored as interested science students took part in classroom activity and lab sessions daily. The latter interested the students most.

Health classes learned of the functions of the different parts of the body, while psychology students studied how the mind and the body work together.

Biology students involved themselves in differentiating animals, plants, etc., in proper classes and kingdoms. Dissecting and examining dissected insects, crawfish, and frogs was good experience for the future scientists.

Mr. King's psychology students look on as Gary Plemons attempted to walk through a maze blindfolded.

With sugar and sulfuric acid, advanced chemistry students Jean Davenport and George Mahony create a sugar monster.

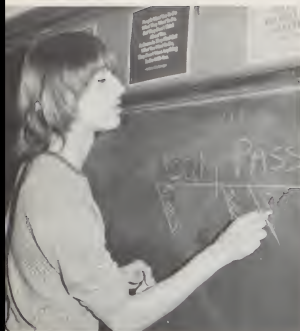

Scope on Life

Testing for oxygen, under the guidance of Mrs. Gergel, are first year chemistry students Bobby O'Donnell and Snezana Antic.

Diedre Huntley illustrates to the other health students the similarity in the muscle in Scott Polak's arm and the muscle in the arm of the chart.

Mike Bodrazic, English student, diagrams a sentence at the board.

Giving a report of the book, 'Wuthering Heights', Rena Tucker plays the part of the mind of Katherine, the main character of the book.

Students Learn About

Freshman English Literature students divide into groups to prepare for a discussion on plot, setting, and theme.

With the addition of a new series of grammar, speech, and literature, books, Whiting High School students were lead through a prosperous year. The main objectives of all English classes were to increase vocabulary, improve knowledge of grammar, and stimulate creativity in writing.

To the freshman students, it was a potpourri of poets and authors. Sophomores enjoyed the new and exciting experience of speech class, and to juniors it was an intense study of American authors.

Another new facet of the English department this year was the addition of Letter Writing. Seniors also had the choice of Practical English, besides the usual Rhetoric and Literature.

English Grammar students gather around a table to discuss vocabulary words to prepare for a test.

Their Own Language

After hours of studying, English Literature students keep themselves busy in order to complete a test of authors and titles in their Literature books.

Term papers having just been returned to Mr. Ulrich's grammar students, Lynda Balogh and Elaine Oster look over their own to see all they have done wrong.

Economics teacher, Mr. Laub, teaches his class how to economize their budgets.

History Relived

Not being of age yet, John Single goes through the actions of casting a vote in Mr. Adkins history class.

Henry Blake stuns Mrs. Lentvorsky by not being able to locate his home state.

To break the monotony of ordinary classroom routine, junior and senior history classes went on guided tours of both Inland Steel and the Whiting Community Center.

Films aided the teachers in bettering the students' understanding of government actions and world wars and affairs taking place now and in the past.

Government and Civics kept up with the problems in the government while Economics classes studied the economic standing of today.

Viewing Congressional Records of the 93rd Congress are S. Allen and D. Borgotti.

in Every Phase

Students in Mr. Adkin's World History class, Mike Helmick, Ricky Sharp, Maureen Dometer, Matt Stolman, Bob Warzyniak, And Rena Tucker, relive World War II in a slightly modern version substituting odds and ends for weapons.

Spanish Culture Studied;

To get back to their studies, ladies in Spanish III and IV attempt to awake the men from their siesta.

Learning usage of verbs and vocabulary, and becoming familiar with Spanish culture, were just a few objectives of the past years' Spanish studies.

To the first year students, it was verbs, verbs, and more verbs; so it seemed to them. But movies, dialogues, and culture sessions added some spark to their studies. Second year students wrote and portrayed interesting monologues about themselves and friends.

Short stories and novels in Spanish were enjoyed by third and fourth year students, while studnets of all classes enjoyed singing along with the guitar.

With Mike Hrinyo and his guitar leading, second year Spanish students enjoy singing songs in Spanish every once in a while.

First year Spanish students not only study from their books, but also from recordings in the lab sessions.

German Accent Attained

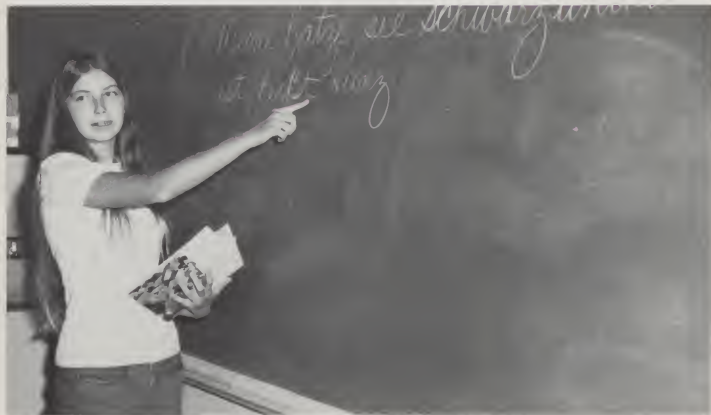

German classes enjoyed a most productive year under the guidance of Herr Ulrich. Students were taught the importance of a second language, in addition to the language and customs of Germany.

First year students worked hard to master the German verb system and obtain the German accent.

Each week, students were given the opportunity to express themselves by producing their own topic for report.

Improving grammar and vocabulary was a major goal of second year students.

Holding the entire class' attention, Mr. Ulrich helps German student B. Ciers present his topic for report.

Referring to her textbook for help, second year student Linda Urbanik translates and illustrates to the class a complex sentence in German at the board.

As you walked through the halls of WHS, it was possible to hear the melodious voices of Mr. Kometz's chorus students or any one of the band's various tunes.

The chorus and band students combined their talents and presented very entertaining Christmas and Spring concerts. In addition to the concerts, the band performed at home football games under the able guidance of Mr. Gow.

Chorus students entertained viewers at hospitals, bands, and delighted listeners on the radio.

Freshman music appreciation students learned the fundamentals of music.

Three band students practice diligently under the able guidance of Mr. Gow.

Mr. Kometz says this chorus class is really "A-sharp" one. As they raise their voices in song, they strive for perfection each day.

Added to the number of different things to do in an art class this past year was the equipment to make small, but useful, rugs, patterned by the students themselves. Students of all art classes made projects of their choice, such as clay objects, water and oil paintings, burlap stitching, and many more.

Art students cooperated in livening up the halls with art displays for the various occasions that came up around Whiting High School such as the open houses and the Christmas season.

Advanced art students Sheri Weiland and Bev Wallace put the finishing touches on one rug which they have made with the new equipment in art class.

Art Displays Liven WHS

This paper mache figure seems to come to life under the careful and experienced touch of Violet Novakovich.

Art students Donna Allen and Charlene Plumley work to make their clay figurines into beautiful works of art.

Gym Students Develop

Under the experienced guidance of Mr. Kovachic and Mr. Zubeck, gym students developed good sportsmanship as well as strength and improved muscle tone and agility. The boys participated in diverse activities, each with a purpose of bringing the boys a step closer to their goal of physical fitness. Calisthenics were a routine part of each gym class. Strenuous games of basketball, football, softball, and volleyball sparked the boys to win good form and performance.

As one way of having fun in boys gym class, freshman boys run after their teacher.

Advanced gym students increase their skills in basketball by practicing.

Freshman gym students try exercising in unison, but are unsuccessful because not all boys are very enthusiastic about it.

Good Sportsmanship

Under the guidance of Miss Stephens, the girls taking part in gym class developed ability, poise, and good sportsmanship.

There was a variety of activities offered to the gym students, ranging from archery to gymnastics. With an attitude of fair play and sportsmanlike attitudes, the girls successfully participated in such strenuous sports as soccer, volleyball, basketball, and track.

Girls in the freshman Gym class engage in a volleyball game.

K. Simants is given a little boost to make a basket.

Freshman gym students do a toe-touching exercise to help keep in shape.

Students Attain Accuracy

Preparing themselves to enter the business world with jobs in business offices was the main goal of the business courses.

General business class served as a way of acquainting students with how a business is run.

With constant stress on neatness and accuracy, shorthand and typing students learned how important the finished job reflected on the company they worked for. Daily practice increased shorthand and typing skills and also accuracy.

General Business students listen attentively as Mr. Turner attempts to explain the process of endorsing a check.

Second year shorthand student, Sally Beth Allen, carefully takes dictation from Mr. Turner, keeping in mind accuracy and speed.

Concerning the trials and tribulations of typing class, Krystal Puhek loses all Patience, and in a fit of frustration pulls another piece of paper from her typewriter.

Changes Come to Home Ec

Cassie Biedron looks on as Lolly Taylor creatively sews a blouse. Others in the class choose a pattern of clothing that they would like to make.

By chopping pecans for coconut kisses, Sandy Peyovich one of the many aspects of home economics class.

Along with the changes that comes with women's lib, come a few in the line of what you might call 'men's lib'. Take, for instance, fifth period cooking class. This period highlighted the day for Mrs. Wagner, being that the class consisted only of boys. Although it was tough the boys did learn the hints of how to cook and also learned that cleaning up follows cooking. After the course was over, they were equal cooks to the girls.

By experience and understanding, sewing students realized the benefits of being able to sew. Students themselves chose their own sewing projects.

Mark Facklam, Glenn Wright, and Doug Cornelius mix hamburger and other ingredients to make a yummy meal in one hour.

Wood shop student Dave Borgetti works diligently to perfect his model home, while fellow student, Tom Bailey checks his plans.

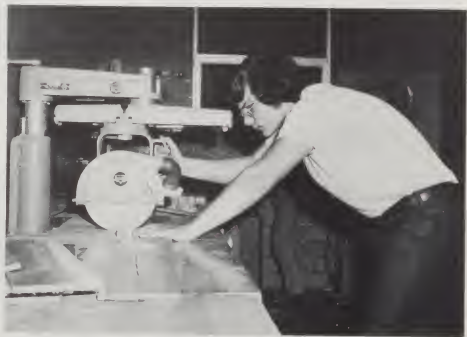

During this past year, girls were once again admitted into such shop classes as print shop and architectural drawing. Those who were enrolled in drawing class learned how to use the necessary architectural drawing instruments, while those in print shop made Christmas cards and stationery.

This past year also, wood shop students helped in completing a display for the school. Some individual projects consisted of jewelry boxes, salt and pepper shakers, cutting boards, and bowls made on the lathe.

Girls Admitted

Second year Print shop student, Rick Hart, patiently carves a profile in a linoleum block for future use.

Aiming to get through to the end, Willy Wajvoda, using the powerful machinery found in wood shop, saws a piece of wood.

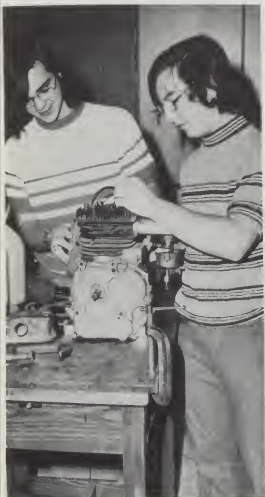

Adding a feminine touch, women libbers at Whiting show the guys that setting type is easy for anyone who wants to learn.

Changes also come to mechanical drawing class as Roxanne Krizo and Lynda Balogh receive helpful advice from fellow students.

in Shop Classes

Gaining the know-how and putting it to work, T. Ryan and S. Gormley precariously rebuild an engine in Power Mechanics.

First year machine students Dave Simants and Matt Stolman work on a wooden bowl of a lathe.

COMPETITION

With the return of the spring season, baseball came up as the current sport at Whiting High School. With constant practice, the Oiler diamondmen tried really hard for a better season than ever before. Debbie Mateja gave Coach Fritz a helping hand by keeping the lineup for him and she also played the part of batgirl.

Losing the first playoff of the Sectionals, Whiting players gave up hope for winning that title. Finishing the season with a record of 5 wins and 17 losses, Coach Fritz hopes for a more successful season next year.

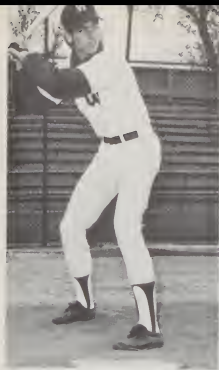

Larry Demay awaits the long throw to home plate to prevent a run from scoring.

Oiler Gridmen

The long practice hours and the many bruises from the past year finally healed by an 8-2 season record.

The avid fans came faithfully to see the new and mighty Coach Nick Crnkovich and his Big Green Machine race to victory after victory. The slick Oilers were gliding through the season undefeated . . . and then . . . "sudden death" fell over the team in both the Homecoming and the Clark-Whiting games.

As the season faded into the background, plans were being made for next season when the Oilers would conquer even the mightiest teams.

Successful Season

The Whiting Oilers, under the supervision of our new head coach, Coach Jerry King, made a spectacular comeback, finishing the season with 10 wins and 10 losses, giving Whiting a good name in basketball.

The underclassmen gained significant experience since only two seniors were part of the team. Along with the experience of those two seniors, Coach King was able to regroup the Oilers to a winning team.

This past year was a very encouraging year for the Oilers. Coach King expects many things from these future Oilers who have already gotten on the promising track of success.

Top Season

Wrestling gained a new popularity this past year with a wrestling assembly held to acquaint the student body with the sport.

Outstanding performances were displayed by all varsity wrestlers, contributing to our best win and loss record ever, 6 and 6.

For the first time, Whiting was awarded a first place in the Indiana Lake Shore Conference as a result of T. Bercik's outstanding performance. Several other wrestlers earned Whiting High School significant titles.

A varsity wrestler needs only to roll his opponent over to get that wanted pin.

Although the cross country season was not considered a successful one, it was not due to a lack of determination.

Mr. Rebey blamed the outcome of the season on many factors, a late start on practicing was one. Mr. Rebey and the returning runners are looking forward to their next season as being a much better one.

After experiencing defeat, the Whiting cross country runners are determined to make a come-back.

Track Gains A New Look

Track season was highlighted this past year with girls being allowed to join the team. Although none of the girls made the varsity squad, they participated and worked hard because they were a part of the team.

Ending the season with a record of 6 losses and 0 wins, ten participants earned their numerals and nine earned their letter. Mr. King, head track coach, named Bernie Svitko the Most Valuable Player for the 1973 Track season.

Ability, determination, and long practices helped the cause of the WHS golfers. They ended their season being rated sixth in their conference with a record of four wins and twelve losses. Letters were awarded to Bill Schultz, Steve Warzyniak, Joe Skvarek, and Joe Oblon. Bill Schultz was chosen Most Valuable Player.

In hopes of bettering themselves, the WHS golfers are looking forward to the next season as being a successful one. This past season was the last for Coach Divjak with WHS.

Rich Zajac, with the determination of a whole-in-one, keeps his eye on the ball to assure himself one.

After many hours of practice, Joe Skvarek was able to return a serve, confident that it was a good return.

The addition of the tennis team to Whittings' sports agenda gave nine boys and girls the chance to participate in something different. Four boys and the first girl in Whitting's sports history lettered this past year.

With a lot of practice, under the direction of Mr. Adkins, the young team's first season wasn't too bad. Finishing with a record of 3 wins and 4 losses, Mr. Adkins looks forward to a more successful season next year.

During the past four years in athletics at Whiting High, the many teams had been highlighted by those athletes who have now reached their last year as high school sportsmen. Many of them left an inerasable mark on the school in their achievements, and all of them inspired the future athletes in sports at WHS.

Many of them dominated football and basketball. Some went out to shine in wrestling, others in baseball, track, and cross country. Though they are leaving Whiting High, their names and achievements will not be forgotten.

The success of Whiting High School's "B" team wrestling squad pleased Coaches Rebey and Surdy, for the performance of the team reflects on their coaches.

This successful season of 7 wins and 5 losses, was the result of harder work displayed by all wrestlers as individuals.

The wrestlers put to good use the moves taught them by Coaches Rebey and Surdy. Even better seasons are yet to come, with the increasing determination of all.

Coaches Guide Young Matmen

Freshmen wrestlers, willing to give up many hours to practice, engaged only in individual matches against individual competitors. These young matmen learned that hard effort and real determination were required to build up the confidence that was needed to win. Coaches Rebey and Surdy look forward to next season, when once again, they must teach young men the fundamentals of the sport so that they gain enough experience and know-how to be successful in their future years as wrestlers.

Demonstrating a hold to the freshmen team is freshman wrestler J. Singel.

Freshmen Gain Experience

Under the watchful eye of Coach Surdy, freshmen football players train in preparation for the next game. Using the "charging sled", the boys increase their strength.

Under the guidance of Coach Jerry Surdy, our freshman gridmen were led through an exciting and eventful season. Long practice hours prepared the boys for each game. Although they ended the season with a record of three losses, one tie, and one win, the freshman boys gained invaluable experience that will guide them through their future years in football. In addition to gaining experience, they gained stamina and a sense of good sportsmanship.

Cheerleaders Spark Teams

To the four girls chosen as freshmen cheerleaders, this past year was a year of new and exciting experiences. During the football season, these four enthusiastic girls accompanied the team and brought with them spirit and enthusiasm to lead the players on to a victory. As basketball season rolled around, the cheerleaders had gained the experience to lead their freshmen team to Oiler victories.

Cheerleaders Attend Camp;

After attending a summer cheerleading camp at Indiana University during the summer of 1973, our five varsity cheerleaders came back to school ready for action. In addition to the traditional mum-selling campaign during Homecoming week, the cheerleaders also assisted the Booster club in selling ribbons for Homecoming and Clark games. The 1973-74 varsity squad included one senior, Nanci Mohr.

Loyalty Shown to Team

Also showing an abundance of loyalty to their school were the B-Squad cheerleaders. They attended the cheerleading camp at Indiana University. During football season, the B-Squad cheerleaders showed their enthusiasm by helping the varsity squad lead Oiler cheers, and when basketball season came along, they let their true Oiler colors show as they sparked the B-Squad team to an Oiler victory.

Ever notice the screaming, stomping, yelling, and general enthusiasm at the athletic games of the Oilers? Whether it was a home or an away event, the members of the Booster club were always there, exhibiting a genuine hysteria that took hold of anyone and everyone nearby. The club, under the direction of Ms. Kathy Kosior, actually "performed" at the games by flashing the green and white ponchos which had become their "trademark". And, of course, the team was sparked by the group's attention.

Walk by the football field any evening during football season and no doubt you'll hear the razzmatazz music of the Whiting High School Marching Band, complete with pompom girl squad. They never failed to dazzle you with fancy footwork and halftime musicalmania-under-the-lights! Concert performances are more your thing, you say? They have just the thing for your interest: Whiting's High School Concert Band. They have sounds that will set your ears humming. Now for the more enthusiastic school spirit, there's a super peppy Pep Band. Besides helping to boost the team's morale, they give the Student Body something to scream about, and that's the truth!

For Everyone to Hear

Under the direction of Mr. David Gow, the Band department of W.H.S. has grown and become a genuine listening pleasure.

During Homecoming season, the band highlights the Annual Parade by playing a currently popular medley of songs. The sounds blare and give the fans, spectators and participants something to be proud of, as well as lending an air of certain victory to the exciting game ahead.

Though it sometimes gets unbearably cold during football marching season, the eighteen girls in the Oilerettes pom-pom squad always manage to "Grin and Bear it."

In May of 1973, try-outs were held for anyone interested in becoming an Oilerette. Of the 34 girls who tried out, 19 went on to become members of the squad, three of them as alternates. Under the direction of Miss Terri Smith and Mr. David Gow, the girls performed at halftime during football and basketball games to such songs as "Black Magic Woman" and "I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing." In October, the girls proudly displayed the new uniforms they had earned through efforts at car washes and candy sales. The hard work of the girls paid off in grateful cheers from fans.

"A Lasting Friendship"

The Girls' Club at Whiting High has always been a club that acquaints the shy, somewhat "frightened" freshman girl to a "Big Sister" who would give her some guidance in high school matters. As always, the senior girls each chose a "little sister" who would be friend during school; and also as always, a Big Sister-Little Sister Party was given in honor of the girls.

In the spring of 1973, the Club sponsored a Mother's Day Tea Party in honor of all of the members of the club and their mothers. Refreshments were served, and entertainment was provided by the members themselves.

At the Mother's Day Tea Party, Paula Vet-rozky helps to entertain the guests with lively piano tunes.

Time to Teach and to Read

Cadet teacher sponsor Mrs. J. DePeugh.

The school library was a busy of the school in 1973 and 74, as any high school library would be. But without the devotion, time effort that the librarians put into keeping the books in order and helping the students, it wouldn't have been possible to get that term paper done on time, or finish that report for history!

The cadet teachers were also busy giving of themselves to young students anxious to learn. Under the direction of Mrs. DePeugh, the cadet teachers had proved to be successful.

For the first time in its history, the "W" Club initiated a feminine athlete who had proudly earned her letter in tennis. Michele Duray, an enthusiastic "rackateer" became the only girl to break the all-male barrier of the club. Needless to say, the other members did not hesitate to welcome her whole heartedly! The club is open to all athletes at WHS who have earned one or more letters in sports. One can almost always spot a member by the "sweater and the letter."

The Voice of the Students

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Kountoures, the Student Council did an excellent job of representing the student body. The council was responsible for the buses that transported many students to the away games. It also sponsored the Homecoming dance, and made the arrangements for the Parade and the crowning of the 1973

Homecoming Queen. In addition to these responsibilities, the council held the Homeroom Volleyball Tournaments in the Spring.

And of course there are the concession workers, ready during any of Whiting's basketball and football games to sell you something to quench your thirst or satisfy your appetite.

Teamwork! Mrs. Pawlus, concession stand head, and her husband Mr. Edward Pawlus, who sells athletic event tickets at the school for the students.

Young "Future Teachers"

The 56 members of the Future Teachers of America at Whiting High were busy during this past year selling one of the bigger attractions of the students: Wednesday's cookies and cupcakes. The sales were monumental in success because of the demands. The money was used by the F.T.A. members to fund trips and other activities in order to supplement the knowledge of teaching that each member needed. The cadet teachers, another facet of the organization, helped interested students become better acquainted with teaching.

F.T.A. Officers—Marianne McFadden, Secretary; Melody Bialon, Treasurer; Jeanelle Ciers, Social Chairman; Diane Bartko, Vice President; Violet Novakovich, President.

Each and every Wednesday, the members of the F.T.A. sell cookies and cupcakes that hold much appeal to the members of the student body, as well as the teachers!

F.T.A. and Cadet Teachers Sponsor Mrs. Jane DePeugh

Learn About Teaching

Acquainted with the field of teaching. The select few students chosen as the Cadet Teachers (each applicant was carefully screened by Mrs. DePeugh) were given opportunities at on the spot teaching in the lower grades. Each cadet teacher proved to be great helpers to the teacher in charge, as well as gaining invaluable experience for their own benefit.

Last row: Marianne McFadden, Theresa Johnson, Tanya Hriyno, Mary Cholyte, Nancy Shake, Sandy Peyovich, and Carol Adkison.

December members—David Borgetti, Adrienne Semanick, Joe Stefanich, Marge Ciez, and George Curosh.

June members—Tanya Hrinio, Sally Allen, Janice Hruskocy, Tom Bercik, Peter Pavlina, Greg Kubacki, Bette Etter, Diane Bartko, and Violet Novakovich.

National Honor Society

During the spring of 1973 five members of the junior class were initiated into the National Honor Society as the club's officers. Members of this esteemed club were selected by the faculty on the basis of citizenship and leadership, as well as attitude and academic status. In January, five more members were initiated, and the total membership of the organization grew to fifteen members. The initiation consisted of formal and informal ceremony. During the informal ceremony each member was asked a question pertaining to civic, moral, and social problems.

National Honor Society Officers—Sally Allen, President; Tom Bercik, Treasurer; Peter Pavlina, Vice-President; Violet Novakovich, Secretary; and Tanya Hrinio, Social Chairman.

National Honor Society sponsor Mrs. Marie Lentvorsky.

Scholarship "W" (Juniors)—Lynn Vajda, 2; Marianne McFadden, 1; Mary Lou Gregor, 1; Rich Borgetti, 2; George Broderick, 2; Joe Oblon, 1.

Scholars Receive "W's"

A student at WHS who is scholarly enough to maintain a report card with nothing but "A's" and "B's" on his or her report card is awarded a scholarship "W" at each school year's end. During his four years at Whiting High School, he is given a chance to receive four "W" awards. When a student has achieved that goal, a green "W" is stamped on his diploma. Attainment of a scholarship "W" is a goal which nearly every student at WHS would like to reach.

Scholarship "W" (Seniors)—Greg Kubacki, 3; Peter Pavlina, 3; Joe Stefanich, 1; Tanya Hrinoy, 3; Marge Ciez, 3; Lou Ann Bednar, 1; Jean Moskalick, 1; Diane Bartko, 3; Barb Kubeck, 1; Sally Allen, 2.

Scholarship "W" (Sophomores)—Jane Demkovich, 1; Denise Paucak, 1; Carol Adkison, 1; Linda Urbanik, 1; Mike Hruskocy, 1; Ricky Schauer, 1; Peggy Vanek, 1.

The Red, Yellow and Black

Each year the members of the German Club decorate their Christmas tree with a mixture of lively decorations as the natives of Deutschland traditionally do.

A very devoted club sponsor, Herr James C. Ulrich helps the students to plan all of the club's events.

The Deutschers at WHS have become one of the most spirited clubs in the school. Though not large in membership, the group plans field trips and other cultural events designed to enrich the lives of its members. An annual initiation day for new members, a float in the Homecoming parade, and weekend trips in the spring are some events.

German Club Officers—"Elke" Cholye, Vice-President; "Gabi-Fritz" Etter, President; "Hilda" Urbanik, Treasurer; and "Kirsten" Demkovich, Secretary.

The Spanish Clubs entry in the Homecoming parade stood out as an unusual and clever float, with the "Frito Bandito" loudly proclaiming victory by urging the Oilers to "Crunch Em."

The Red, White and Green

Boasting of having the largest membership amongst the clubs and organizations at Whiting High, the Spanish Club provided its members with many activities during the year. Among them were the annual Christmas Party the prize-winning entry in the 1973 Homecoming parade. And, of course, the trip to Mexico in the summer of 1973.

Spanish Club officers—Secretary Ricky Dyer, Vice-President Paula Vetrosky, President Dave Harangody, and Treasurer Debbie Mahony.

Spanish Club sponsor Senor Jack Taylor, who helped the students make the Spanish club something worth looking into.

Busy reviewing a recent issue of the TATTTLER is Editor-In-Chief Janice Hruskocy.

TATTTLER typist Joe Stefanich takes a short "hiatus" in his typing duties.

Bringing You The News from Every Corner of School

The members of the TATTLER staff initiated many new ideas into the school newspaper that livened up every other Friday in the school year. Editor-In-Chief Janice Hruskey, after having been down to Indiana University for a two week journalism seminar, came back to school in the fall bursting with new ideas and features designed to make the TATTLER a newspaper to remember.

Mrs. Dorothy Curtis, TATTLER sponsor, was busy checking articles and advising the staff on the do's and don't's of their journalistic efforts. Under her direction, the TATTLER formed new ideas and sections. A larger staff and a new perspective were taken on, and a successful paper resulted.

"Hear no evil, see no evil, speak no evil" appears to be the motto of the Co-Editors Barb Kubeck, Alison DeChantal and Bette Etter. (Or could it possibly be "Monkey See, Monkey Do"?)

Staff members Arlene Gigac, Debbie Mateja, Carol Adkison, Linda Urbanik, and Ellie Hrabovsky.

REFLECTOR STAFF

Shows W.H.S. Students "The Way We Were"

Throughout the academic school year, REFLECTOR staff members were busy designing layouts, taking pictures, selling ads, and keeping a close watch on the students at Whiting High School in order to publish a yearbook that wouldn't soon be forgotten. "Telling it like it was," the staff busily worked on the book with the intentions of portraying the Whiting High student as he really is. Working with a theme concerning the recent and numerous changes that affect the students' lives, the staff created a book that brought the real meaning of high school to life.

In order to help each new Editor effectively use different techniques in the yearbook experience, she is given the opportunity to work on the staff all year long.

The co-editors for the 1974 REFLECTOR are seniors Jean Moskalick and Adrienne Semancik.

The sponsor for the 1974 yearbook is Mr. Michael Mihalo.

The REFLECTOR's 1974 Editor-In-Chief is Lynda Balogh.

Busy at work preparing signature layouts and type sheets for an upcoming deadline, the staff works diligently to make everything "just so."

The Editor-In-Chief for the 1975 REFLECTOR is Marilu Gregor, pictured here with the Co-Editor, Alice Baxley.

Behind every wrestling meet and basketball game at WHS there are two devoted groups of girls, one group known as the "Stat Girls," and the other group known as the "Mat Maids." The girls in each of these groups are responsible for scorekeeping, timekeeping, and player statistics. They have proven to be a valuable asset in the games, and are appreciated by the players, the coaches, and the fans alike. Another example of the power of "Women's Liberation" at Whiting High School!

The wrestling coach and sponsor of the Mat Maids is Coach William Robey.

To the Seniors of 1974: You have just emerged from four of the most wonderful, most confusing, most memorable years of your lives. You have lived through the bad times and you've laughed through the good times. You'll long remember the friends you knew, the places you've been and the things you've learned, even though they will all remain behind you. Your futures hold responsibilities, independence, and dreams. You have set goals for yourselves, goals that will change your lives once more. You have each become individuals with personalities that differ from those of the people you see around you. A new, more challenging part of your lives is now ahead, a part that will bring all the things you've learned into play. It is now all there for you to grasp; it is within reach of those of you who have the will and the knowledge to go forward and take it.

Juniors Host Prom

S. Gyure and C. Earl ride in second place car.

The junior class began the year with the addition of a new sponsor, Mr. Paul Laub. In order to raise money for the prom, the class sold W.H.S. license plates and 75 pins.

Homecoming became an unforgettable day for Sue Gyure and her escort, Calvin Earl.

The big social event of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom. It was held at the Golden Age. Dinner was served, and dancing continued through the night.

Sophomore Treasury Expands

Sophomores chat while awaiting the opening of school.

Homecoming was met with eager anticipation by the class of '76, especially the election of the sophomore attendant. Maureen Demeter was chosen and escorted by James Odlivak. More excitement fell upon the Sophomores as their attendant car tied for first place with the freshmen.

The Sophomores had many money making projects this year to help in aiding with this years Freshmen-Sophomore Party.

High School is a waste of time . . .

. . . unless you find a job that turns you on and makes good use of your education. Inland Steel wants only people who want to use everything they've learned in high school--and strongly desire to grow personally and in their chosen field.

Inland's future growth depends on the creativity and productivity of its people. If you want a really challenging opportunity to contribute--with the rewards and responsibilities that go with it--Inland wants to talk to you.

We need action-seeking graduates for opportunities in clerical . . . production . . . technical . . . and craft apprenticeship areas.

Think it over. If you have high aspirations and a good high school record, take time to find out about a career with us.

A black and white photograph of a building entrance. The entrance features a double door with a transom window, flanked by two columns. Above the door is a large, circular, decorative window with a radial pattern. The building is partially obscured by a large, leafy tree in the foreground. The text is overlaid on the left side of the image.

To the Students and Graduates of W.H.S.:

As you close the doors of W.H.S. behind you, may all future doors open easily for you. If it be your goal, may you excel. If it be happiness, may you relate. If it be an obstacle, may you conquer. Carry with you all your ideals and feelings you have today throughout your life.

A stylized illustration of a scroll with a quill pen and an inkwell. The scroll is unrolled, showing a list of sponsorships. A quill pen is positioned vertically on the left side of the scroll, and an inkwell is at the bottom left. The scroll is drawn with simple lines and some shading to give it a three-dimensional appearance.

CHANGES IV

Don't you feel a change a-coming from another side of time, breaking down the walls of silence lifting shadows from your mind.
Placing back the missing mirrors that before you couldn't find filling mysteries of emptiness that yesterday left behind.

And we all know it's better.
Yesterday has past
now let's all start the living
for the one that's going to last.
Yes, we all know it's better
yesterday has past
now let's all start the living
for the one that's going to last.

Don't you feel the day is coming
that will stay and remain when your children see the answers that you saw the same.
When the clouds have all gone
there will be no more rain and the beauty of all things is uncovered again.

And we all know it's better
Yesterday has past.
Now let's all start the living
For the one that's going to last.

Don't you feel the day is coming and it won't be too soon when the people of the world can all live in one room.
When we shake off the ancient Shake off the ancient chains of our tomb
we will be born again
of the eternal womb.

And we all know it's better
yesterday has past
now let's all start the living
for the one that's going to last!
